tunity of seeing a good game here on Thanksgiving Day afternoon. The New York Baseball Club has succeeded in arranging a meeting be tween Brown University and Wesleyan, to take place on that date on the Polo Grounds' new gridiron. It is also probable that Brown's game with the Carlisle Indians will be transferred from Providence to the Pole Grounds, that is, if the New York Club will strain a point to get the

Not until yesterday was it definitely decided to lay out the gridiron from north to south, parallel with the big grand stand on the Polo rounds. The Yale manager had an idea that in the event of laying out the playing field in this manner there would not be enough room behind each goal line. Actual measurement showed vesterday that there will be more than seven yards of space behind each goal line, which, though perhaps a bit cramped, will not seriously interfere with the play. The accompodation of the grand stand patrons will be taken into consideration and the goal posts will be planted in front of the two open stands. As there is nothing specific in the rules about the amount of space to be set aside behind each goal line, the teams will readily consent to the above arrangement, especially as it will please a large number of grand stand patrons who are anxious to see all the plays. The Polo Grounds are in far better condition for football than Manbattan Field and there will be more room for spectators who like to sit as close to the gridiron as possible.

An incident in the game at Princeton on Saturday showed pretty well how the red men are progressing in the fine points of the game. King' Kelly of Princeton, who can hit the line like a battering ram, went into the game for about five minutes in the second half. He was worked incessantly in rushes between the tackies and guards, and his piunges were so irresistible that the ball was quickly carried down to within a few yards of the Indians' goal line. The red men were simply frantic, and fought for every inch of territory. Every time Kelly's head came plunging through the big gaps in the rush line, it was the objective point for various upper cuts and swings. Finally Kelly rushed into another hole and was downed a yard from the goal line. He was at the bottom of a pile of men, and the only part of him to be seen was his head. Capt. Bemus Pierce of the Indians saw it first and made a grab for it. With force enough to dislocate Kelly's neck, the Indian gave that head a couple of screw-driver twists and them bumped it hard on the turf.

"What are you trying to do?" roared Kelly, as he struggled to his feet and rushed up to the sober-looking Indian.

"Don't hit him, Kelly! Don't hit him!" screamed Jack McMasters, Princeton's faithful trainer, who was dancing up and down on the side lines. "Let him hit yer all be likes. But don't hit 'im back!" The fact that Pierce is a 200-pounder and also a six-footer, while Kelly is almost half his size, made those who heard McMastera's advice smile audibly.

"Twisting an opponent's head is not new in football. It was invented by the pale faces. Indians play real football now," was the comment of a Carlisie substitute who saw the above incident.

The effire management of the Harvard-Yale game at Cambridge is in the hands of Norman W. Bingham. Harvard's graduate manager. He will receive applications for seats from all Harvard alumni and undergraduates. Yale men can apply for seats by addressing D. C. Twichell, manager of the Yale eleven, at New Haven. It is understood that there will be room for a trife more than 20,000 ticket holders at Soldiers Field. The new stands, which are built of steel, are all in place, and have been pronounced safe. At the Yale-Princeton game, to be played in New Haven, there will be very few persons permitted on the side lines. The managers have decided to limit side lines. The managers have decided to limit side lines tickets to a very small number, so that the usual army of persons who obstruct the view of seatholders will not be in evidence. The quarters for the newspaper men and telegraph operators will be located in a large section on the top rows of one of the open stands—a plan that has been tried both in Philadelphia and Springfield on several occasions. The rule that "everybody must sit down" will be strictly enforced at both New Haven and Cambridge.

Below will be found a complete record of the work of all of the big Eastern college teams to date. Princeton, Yale, and Harvard still maintain a clean record as far as blanking opponents is concerned. Pennsylvania has played the largest number of games and has scored the most points. There are several facts about the Lafayette-Cornell game which are cropping out. Walbridge, Lafayette's great haif back, did not discover until after the battle that his nose was broken. The whole team suffered from overgoulidence, even though some of the best players were crippled. Cornell's dash took Lafayette completely by surprise, and not until the second haif did the Easton collegians wake up to the situation. Then it was too late. Parke Davis, the Lafayette coach, declares that Cornell's touchdown was not fairly made, and that an injust ruling by the referee deprived Walbridge of a sure touchdown. The Cornell man, on the other hand declare that Lafayette's touchdown was a fuke, and that they would have surely won had the game been played at Ithacs. As it is, Cornell's stock is bouning and the enthusiasm at Ithaca is increasing. The Lafayette players will rest nearly all this week so as to be it for the game with Pennsylvania next Saturday.

..... C Totale.

During the Yale-Newton game on Saturday an interesting point came up for discussion, and many people went home with the impression that Yale had made a safety touchdown. The play that caused the trouble began when Corbet of Newton kicked off from the middle of the field. McBride, the Yale full back, attempted to catch the bail, but the leather bounded ever his head and rolled behind the Yale goal posts, where Corwin of Yale picked it up. The Newtons at once claimed a safety on the ground that McGride had touched the ball. But it was only a "touchback," as the ball was the ground that Mcbride had touched the ground that Mcbride had touchback," as the ball was sent across the line direct from Corbett, McBride not getting his hands on the ball.

Cambridge, Oct. 18.—The practice of the Harvard teau this afternoon was lively, despite the fact that many of the men were still somewhat that many of the men were still somewhat this from the West Point game. The team arrived home yesterday morning with mot a single injured man in the forty. Speaking of the game "Reggy" Brown said that on the whole Harvard did not put up a first-class game, which fact was probably due to the oppressive weather. Throughout the game the Harvard team were in much better physical condition than the cadets. Further, Brown said that Doucette put up the best all-around game and was in every play. Donald, Moulton, Cabot and Diblee also distinguished themselves by their sharp and spirited playing. Harvard is santilpating an interesting game on Wednesday with Newton. An attempt will be made to better the score made by Yale last Saturday. The line-up will be practically the same as last Saturday, with the possible exception of Warren at full back instead of Haushton. It is also quite probable that Cochrane will be quarter back and Burden centre. Capt Cabot wishes to save Doucette and Garrison for the game with Brown on Saturday. A new candidate for full back has just loomed up in Reid, a member of the freshman class. He halls from California. The coaches believe that he has the making of a great player. Of late he has been full back on the freshman eleven. CAMBRIDGE, Oct. 18.—The practice of the Har-

Of late he has been full back on the freshman eleven.

PRINCETON, Oct. 18.—With the Indian game well behind them and but five more games to play, the Tiggers settled down to-day to get ready for the Cornell game next Saturday. Although most of the men are truised and tired from Saturday's game, there was not the slightest symptom of a let-up in the practice this afternoon. The 'varsity was put through a long, tedious signal practice, in which all the regular players took part excepting Kelly and Baird, both of whom appear to be slightly overtrained.

Arthur Poe got into the game for the first time in two weeks. His passing showed lack of practice, but he gave the signals quickly and ran the team in fairly good shape. The coachers are hoping that he will improve in order that Baird may have a chance to save himself as much as possible in the practice and smaller games. After the signal practice the first eleven was lined up against a heavy "scrub" for a twenty-minute game. The playing on both sides was ragged to an extreme, and the slump was very discouraging to the coachers after the good showing made on Saturday. But no touchdown was scored by the 'varsity during the whole game, and the "scrub" forced the playing most of the time.

"Pop" Warren, captain of the '91 eleven, was on the field to-day. He devoted his cutire attention to Swartz, Craig, and Lathron, the casid-dates for left end. W. Church, left tackie on last year's championship eleven, is expected this week. He will be played on the "scrub" against Eddie Holt.

EASTON, Oct. 18.—Lafayette's footballers are by no means disheartened by Saturday's gainst Eddie Holt.

Easton, Oct. 18.—Lafayette's footballers are by no means disheartened by Saturday's tie game with Cornell. They realize they played one of the strongest elevens on the boards to-day. The men have taken renewed courage, especially as the injured men are doing splendidly. A change has been made on the team that is regarded most favorably. It was announced after a secret practice this afterneon that Worthington goes back to left end and Speer, last year's end, who has not been playing this season, resumes his old place. Thus Lafayette is materially strengthened, Boyd will be trained in at right half, and liel is to play full back until Bray can get out again. Bray has developed another boil on his instep. Waibridge, too, has a boil; it is on his knee. Dr. Updegrove says both men will be out for Saturday's great game against Pennsylvania. Parke Davis is working harder than ever coaching the players individually on their weak points. Lafayette will put up the greatest game in her history next Saturday.

ITHACA. Oct. 18.—It speaks well for the physical condition of the Cornell team that not a man was disabled in the game with Lafayette Saturday. A few new plays will be developed this week. Assistant Coach Beacham stated to this week. Assistant coach bearand stated to THE SUN representative that the Cornell team that meets Princeton Saturday will have im-proved 100 per cent, over the team that played Lafayette, although it will be exactly the same team. The recent game showed the weak points and the coaching will be, of course, to overcome these.

Important Matters Discussed by the Y. R. U.

Eighteen representatives of the yachting fraternity discussed racing rules and classification at the special general meeting of the Yacht Racing Union of Long Island Sound, which was held in parlor F of the Fifth Avenue Hotel last night. The following delegates were present: Oliver E. Cromwell and Charles A. Sherman, Seawanhaka Corinthian Y. C.; Charles P. Tower and Paul A. Meyrowitz, New Rochelle Y. C.: F. E. Newbury D. Lawton of the Atlantic Y. C. Newbury D. Lawton of the Atlantic Y. C., Chairman of the Committee on Organization of the proposed international league, who was present by invitation, presented the rules as proposed for the new association. They were approved, and the council of the Union was instructed to act as representatives in the national convention which will be held on Oct. 30. The council was empowered to agree to any change in the racing rules that it saw fit.

The operation of the rules during the past season was discussed at length, and several suggestions for slight changes for next season were submitted for approval. There was also some discussion relative to the number of races that should be held during the season, the conductive to the best interests of the sport if the number held by each club be reduced.

During an informal talk on uniform racing rules for the international body, Delegate Jones, speaking on behalf of the Committee on Organization, stated that, although it would not be advisable in the opinion of the members of the committee to bring the subject to an issue this year, they had one or two plans that would be submitted. He supplemented this by stating that it would be easy to obtain uniform rules by adopting the Eastern formula—water-line measurement—for all classes of thirty feet and under, while above that measurement to use the sail area and water-line formula. It is probable, however, that these rules will be left severely alone for at least a year, as the result would only be a makeshift that would doubtiess be changed the following season. In the second round Palmer banged Sullivan three times in the face without receiving a return. Sullivan tried rushing, but Palmer was slavays ready and kept him off, and in the fourth round he landed on Sullivan's mouth, getting first blood.

Sullivan then became desperate and rushed Palmer round the ring, but the American could not escape several left-handed blows in the face. The Philadelphian made a good rally in the last round, but could not overcome Fox's lead, who was declared the winner.

The second was a repetition of the first, save that both landed once though neither did any damboth landed once though neither did say damage. The bout was degenerating into a farce

Discoloration of Council Lobsters. OTTAWA, Oct. 18.-A year ago Dr. A. Macphall, professor of pathology, was commissioned by the Minister of Marine and Fisheries to investigate the causes of the discoloration of canned lobsters. Dr. Macphali found the discoloration to be due to bacteria, and after elaborate experiments, proved that the bacteria could only be destroyed by the application of heat to the filled can, the use of germicidal fluids being out of the question. The process is simple enough, and when generally adopted, will save hundreds of thousands of dollars to the canners.
